

Delegation Name: Iraq

Ambassador Name: Kaan Gökbayrak

Honorable Chairs and Most Distinguished Delegates,

First and foremost we hope that everyone is staying safe and strong during this pandemic. It's been almost one year since it started and with vaccinations becoming more and more attainable we hope that it won't be around for long. We would like to offer our most sincere wishes to everyone affected by COVID-19.

The Republic of Iraq was one of the founding members of the United Nations on 21 December 1945. Since then, Iraq has been active with its participation in the works of the UN. The UN has endeavored to help the middle east and eradicate threats to the peace and safety of our country; now, we wish to play a greater role to help and developing nations around the world while tackling every agenda as an issue threatening global triumph and unity. In this conference, we will focus on solving problems that come with the crisis and improve global governance.

In this conference, there are important problems that need to be addressed immediately like assessing the potential risk of the weaponization of artificial intelligence. This issue is especially important for us because we are located in a region where these artificially intelligent weapons are being tested. The use of said weapons has major moral flaws. Hence, we encourage all member states to establish stricter regulations on this matter. Furthermore, we aim to address any problems concerning our nation or any issues concerning our planet's future.

The delegation of the Republic of Iraq supports how the UN takes action and how these actions improve our planet. With confidence, we can say that crises like the one we are currently experiencing can be overcome with unity and perseverance. Thus, we wish the house effective and fruitful debates to solve the conference's theme as a goal, Crisis, and achieve Global Governance.
